

Delegates Pledge Support Toward 10 Per Cent Boost In County S. S. Enrollment

Also They Agree to Endeavor to Maintain 70 Per Cent Attendance.

LECTURE ON WORLD TRIP

State Secretary Landes Gives Interesting Experiences of Visit to Far East; Court Commended for Refusing Liquor Licenses in the County.

With an illustrated lecture on "Around the World With the Sunday School," by W. G. Landes of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, as the final feature of the 25th annual convention of the Fayette County Sunday School association closed Thursday evening at the First Baptist church, after the delegates had voted unanimously to unite in an effort to boost the enrollment of the schools 10 per cent during the next year and increase the average attendance to 70 per cent of the enrollment. The proposal was made by State Secretary Landes, who called attention to heavy losses in the state during the war period. The pendulum is swinging the other way, he said, and the aid of the church people is needed to give the movement impetus.

By means of slides Mr. Landes traced the course of the journey of himself and other members of the Pennsylvania delegation to the World Sunday school convention in Japan and the return trip. Many views of scenes in Japan, China and India were shown and interesting sidelights of the journey given during the lecture.

A personal reference recalled the fact that at Calcutta on the return trip Mr. Landes' pocket was picked of all his money and his passport and that on the way from Bombay to Delhi he lost his railroad ticket, providing transportation for 6,000 miles, during the process of effecting from his pocket in the train a lot of Indians who entered by mistake and insisted on remaining. The tickets were in his coat which the secretary said he believed dropped from a book and got mixed up with the luggage of the invader. Through the courtesy of railway officials he was given memoranda to show that he had lost the ticket and thus made the remainder of the journey without re-purchase. To overcome the loss of his money he was compelled to borrow from others in the party.

Speaking of the courtesy of officials in the matter of tickets Mr. Landes expressed doubt as to whether similar courtesy would be extended in America to an alien in such a situation.

With the exception of the military the people of Japan are very friendly toward the United States and hope for enduring peace and closer relations, Mr. Landes said. Every possible courtesy was shown the delegates, he said. "Some time I look for a good life of Japan," Mr. Landes added, explaining that the Japanese are very intelligent and a ready see that the national religion is not the true one.

Interesting information on work among lepers by Dr. Wilson, an American, was given. Members of the Sunday school party personally guaranteed Dr. Wilson $2,500 toward the expense of caring for 42 lepers waiting in vain outside a colony for the reason that the doctor had no funds with which to treat them. He is curing leprosy, Mr. Landes said.

The church was crowded with the largest audience of the convention, it being necessary to throw open Sunday school rooms for the overflow. A delegation of 112 out of a Sunday school of 250.

Rev. Dr. William H. Hetrick of the Lutheran church conducted the devotional service. Songs by the audience, under the direction of Mrs. Irene Hammer, and the choir and the Ex-celsior quartet were other features of the evening.

President L. G. Chorprenant called attention to the state convention at Altoona in October and urged a large representation from Fayette county. The election of officers and adoption of a set of resolutions occupied the business session of the afternoon.

Practically the same corps of officers will be in charge for the next year. L. G. Chorprenant of Uniontown was re-elected president; the Citizens Title & Trust company of Uniontown, treasurer; and J. H. Collins, also of Uniontown, secretary.

There was only one change in the vice-presidents. L. E. Henderson of this city succeeding J. W. Dawson. The other vice-presidents are Albert Gaddis, W. M. Thompson, J. B. Snyder, E. L. Sears and L. P. Woodruff.

The new division superintendents were named. Rev. A. C. Brown, Jr., of Waltersburg, succeeding Rev. A. F. Hanes of Brownsville and Frank Siler of Uniontown taking the place of J. W. Dawson. The others re-elected are Mrs. B. C. Boyd, Rev. C. A. Van Eman and Rev. A. J. Faggs.

One new department, superintendent of state, was named. Rev. A. F. Faggs, of Altoona, succeeding Rev. A. C. Brown, Jr. Those re-elected are Mrs. E. H. Collins, Miss M. M. Durs, Mrs. J. D. Hixon, G. F. Griffin and O. P. Thomas. Honorary presidents of the association are B. S. Forsythe and D. M. Hertzog. The nominating committee was composed of Rev. R. C. Van Eman, S. D. Henry, Austin Webb, Jesse H. Dills and Rev. J. P. Farnsworth.

Resolutions were read by John W. Wilford, chairman of that committee. They were unanimously adopted. Three outstanding ones were those commending the Fayette county court for its refusal of all liquor license applications, pledging the moral support in the enforcement of the state liquor laws and condemning Sunday baseball and lawn tennis.

State citizens of Connellsville, its newspapers, and all others aiding in the success of the convention were thanked in other resolutions.

Secretary Landes spoke on "Service and Production."

Another speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. J. M. Bailey of Avalon, children's division superintendent of Allegheny county. Her subject was "The Value of Story Telling."

"Sunday schools need to have a better sense of utilizing the story," she told her audience. "The story teller ought to be an artist and paint the picture before the child's mind to get the response desired."

"Our pastors and Sunday school superintendents are so often sadly lacking in the vocabulary of child language," she declared, and urged that more attention be given this feature of Sunday school work.

Only 80 Treasury Savings Certificates For Connellsville

Acting Postmaster R. W. McCormick has been given a quota of 80 $100 Treasury Savings certificates to sell during June and July, according to word just received by him from the United States Treasury Department. Through the savings division office of the Treasury Department for Western Pennsylvania, an effort is being made through the postmasters to increase the sale of government savings securities.

The postmasters will sell $100 Treasury Savings certificates, which have the nature of bonds of the United States government, behind them. They are registered against loss, readily redeemable and non-taxable, in addition to paying a good rate of interest. Acting Postmaster McCormick yesterday said that he had a good supply of the certificates on hand but that the first to come would be the first served. The government permits each person to own only $1,000 worth of these securities. They are absolutely guaranteed not to decline in value. The price of the $100 certificate for June is $82.40. It will increase in value every month.

While state police and other officers are searching for Elmer Nicholson, 33 years old, who is alleged to have beaten and kicked the boy in the breast bone and a rib on the left side and broken and he has severe contusions of the abdomen and left cheek.

While it was reported Thursday afternoon and night that he probably would die he spent a fairly restful night and was making satisfactory progress today, according to information given out by his physician. It was said there was no intestinal rupture.

Card games are daily events at the scene of the fight and along the Hill Grove cemetery, according to Mrs. W. R. Kooser, mother of the boy, men and boys engaging, sometimes for money, sometimes for just the pleasure of the game. She said there was no money at stake yesterday, so far as she knew.

Mrs. Kooser said she sent Burnette to the store and on the way he was entered into the game. During his progress, according to a few brief statements the boy was allowed to make the mother said, Nicholson called him vile names. "You're the same," it is said the boy answered, whereupon Nicholson is said to have become enraged and leaped on Burnette. They clinched and it is said the boy was holding his own until Nicholson began to kick him.

When the battle ended the Kooser boy was lying prostrate while Nicholson and his companions, among whom were said to be two men, had his head. Nothing has since been seen of Nicholson, who is believed to be hiding in the woods along the pike.

Boys named Hall and Showman came to the rescue of Burnette and carried him to the home of A. K. Kooser, a distant relative, nearby. Dr. J. L. Cochran was summoned and arranged for his removal to the hospital.

The affair happened at 12:15 o'clock. During the afternoon Mr. Kooser notified the police and later the state officers were acquainted with the facts. Nicholson has been making his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicholson, Sr., along the pike.

Honest Advertising

THIS is a topic to all near now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unsearchable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it is all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher honestly advertised, honestly placed before the public, and from which he honestly expects to receive his reward.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

PERSECUTION OF COAL INDUSTRY IS THREATENED

Through Several Bills Now Being Considered by Congress.

DISCRIMINATION SHOWN

In Favor of Fruit and Other Industries Which Are Allowed to Continue in More or Less Direct Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

"Congress is again considering bills for the special regulation of the coal industry. The public clamor for legislation is based upon an entire misapprehension of the intricate machinery which must function simultaneously and in consecutive order if coal is to be available at all times and in all places where needed," says the Mining Congress Journal.

"Other lines of industry, equally important to the public welfare, are not legislated upon whenever these industries fail to furnish the proper supply. No one has seemed to believe that the fruit industry should be subjected to special legislative requirements. In fact the fruit industry has been permitted in more or less direct violation of the requirements of the Sherman Anti-Trust law to organize itself so as to more satisfactorily control total output, allocate to the proper market, see to it that one city does not receive 10 times the amount of fruit which it can possibly consume while another city is left without a proper supply. These associations estimate the amount of fruit which a business center can consume and as nearly as may be possible allocate to that point the required amount. Incidentally the average price of fruit to the retailer is less than when his business was handled in a haphazard manner, when dealers in the city with an over-supply were glad to dispose of surplus stocks at less than cost in order to prevent the total loss of a perishable commodity while some other city at the same time might be entirely without the supply which its market demanded. It is true that in the over-supplied city prices were sold cheaper, very much cheaper, than it would have been had the supply been properly allocated. On the other hand it is true that the other city is not able to supply its needs at any price. If we grant that the average price of fruit is higher than was the case through price in an overstocked market in the haphazard days, yet we insist that continuous supply of a necessity justifies a higher price than can be secured in an overstocked market and therefore that the California Fruit Growers Association has thus far fully justified its existence."

"Find the coal business been authorized to function in like manner, coal operators would have been in position to take a fair profit upon their operation, useless operations would have been discontinued, the mines could have operated more continuously and therefore more economically and every section of the country would have been supplied with coal at a fair price and at all times. Because the coal industry has not been allowed to cooperate in meeting the public demand it is being singled out for special repression and regulation. Because it has been made impossible for coal operators to cooperate in serving the public need, we find an intolerable condition existing which is being made more intolerable by repressive legislation, by public investigation and continuous harping of the public press."

"During the war the enormous production required to satisfy military needs was made possible by enforced principle of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. It would seem wise that we benefit by this experience, profit by the good, discard the bad and make conditions available through which not only in coal, but in every industry, there shall be the highest efficiency in production, transportation and distribution as well as the greatest conservation of natural resources which once wasted can never be replaced."

TRAVELS, WRITES AND LECTURES BY WAY OF DIVERSION

GEORGE F. MORGAN.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS Mr. Morgan, who is to be heard on Carnegie's fifth day, has been contributor to teachers' magazines such as "The Popular Educator," "The Progressive Teacher," "Normal Instructor" and "The American School Board Journal." He has found time also to write successful plays, and on many occasions his material has appeared in comic weeklies.

Mr. Morgan is a native of London, England, and of Scotch parentage. His travels have not only brought him to this country, but have led him across the continent from New York to San Francisco at least a dozen times. Until recently he was active in the educational department of the New York Y. M. C. A., where he had the privilege of meeting a great variety of students, growing boys, foreigners just mastering the English language, adults trying to repeat the mistakes of their early education, and soldiers being educated by the government under the supervision of the Federal Board.

What Attendee Church.
For the last six months says a Los Angeles correspondent, Billy Sunday, a mine has attended church regularly on Sundays and Wednesdays. On Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings he departs straight for Elder Henry's church in South Canal street. He goes to the rear of the church and gets as close to the pulpit as possible in order that he may hear the discourse, and he stands there with bowed head and roving eyes as ever. He always returns after the services of his own accord and never gives any trouble unless an attempt is made to restrain him when services at Elder Henry's church are going on. So far the church going of the mine has not interfered with his business duties at the plant but the officers of the box factory are certain that when a new mine starts at the Union church and services are held daily, "Billy Sunday" will insist on attending them all.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"THE CONCERT"—A Gokwyn picture of splendid entertainment work, is the feature attraction today and tomorrow. Color, life, comedy, action—these are the dominant notes in "The Concert," and these too, are the dominant notes in the posters. An even exchange may be no robbery, as the old proverb states, but when it comes to wives—! Pretty Delphine Hart wanted the great pianist Augustus Hart all for herself and enticed him into leaving his wife and taking her off to his cottage in the mountains. Dr. Hart was frantic and went to the Maestro's wife. They decided that was sauce for the gander was sauce for the goose. They went to the same cottage in the mountains. Well, you can guess the barrel of fun that resulted for spectators and how sick the pianist and the impulsive Delphine were of their billing and cooing. Leo Dittschstein starred in the stage version for two years under David Belasco. Lewis S. Stone, pretty Juliette Scott, Myrtle Stedman and Raymond Hatton lead the cast.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE SAGE HEN"—Featuring an all-star cast, is being shown today and will also be the leading attraction tomorrow. Tremendous, awe-inspiring, hallowed mother love is the theme that throbs like the heart of a wounded lion throughout this magnificent story by Harry Soller, visualized and humanized by Edgar Lewis, and characterized by a remarkable cast of featured players. "Sage Hen" was a term applied to women of doubtful character in the days of the old west. Such a reputation has been unjustly given to Jane Croft, who courageously suffered every persecution of spirit, mind and body and faced every sacrifice, first for the protection of her own son, and then for a young girl over whom her glorious mother heart yearned. Like the great majority of Mr. Lewis' Patriotic features, "The Sage Hen" is an out-door drama with a powerful emotional appeal. It contrasts the best with the worst; those who have exalted, noble ideals with those who are the scum of the earth. Arizona, in the old days, is the story's background. The screen probably knows no other actress more splendidly fitted for the title role than Gladys Brockwell. As the young mother fighting to keep her son and, later, as the woman driven to the supreme sacrifice of all because of her love for her boy and the girl they both love, she is magnificent.

The first episode of "The Purple Riders," a thrilling serial presenting Joe Ryan in the stellar role, is also being shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE JAILBIRD"—A Paramount picture, starring Douglas MacLean, the popular juvenile star, and musical numbers by Margaret Allan, Frank Phillips and Marie Williams, are big attractions today at this theatre and also form the program for tomorrow.

Mrs. Allan, in a soliloquy of rare ability, back to prison again to serve his unexpired term. "The Jailbird" is a novel picture and may be seen several times with enjoyment. Doris May, in the role of a society editor is charming. Mr. Williams and Mr. Phillips are especially pleasing. Mr. Ryan leaves little to be desired.

MacLean is seen as a rogue in "The Jailbird," but a jovial chap for all that. He breaks out of jail, inherits a small fortune, goes west to edit a newspaper, excites the hostility of the staid old villagers, decides to bring them into buying stock in a fake oil scheme, when presto! all his plans are upset by a gaucher which enforces his intended dupe and himself. Then he falls in love and to prove himself really worthy of his sweetheart goes back to prison again to serve his unexpired term.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE SAGE HEN"—Featuring an all-star cast, is being shown today and will also be the leading attraction tomorrow. Tremendous, awe-inspiring, hallowed mother love is the theme that throbs like the heart of a wounded lion throughout this magnificent story by Harry Soller, visualized and humanized by Edgar Lewis, and characterized by a remarkable cast of featured players. "Sage Hen" was a term applied to women of doubtful character in the days of the old west. Such a reputation has been unjustly given to Jane Croft, who courageously suffered every persecution of spirit, mind and body and faced every sacrifice, first for the protection of her own son, and then for a young girl over whom her glorious mother heart yearned. Like the great majority of Mr. Lewis' Patriotic features, "The Sage Hen" is an out-door drama with a powerful emotional appeal. It contrasts the best with the worst; those who have exalted, noble ideals with those who are the scum of the earth. Arizona, in the old days, is the story's background. The screen probably knows no other actress more splendidly fitted for the title role than Gladys Brockwell. Production of Electric Power in United States

An excellent index of industrial conditions throughout the United States is furnished by statistics of the production of electricity for power and light by the public-utility companies. In times of depression less electric power is used by manufacturers who purchase electricity, and the electric railways have less traffic and therefore call for less power. Conversely, in times of prosperity the demand for electricity is greater from every source, even for electric light, in using when the consumer feels less need of economy.

For more than two years monthly statistics have been obtained by the United States Geological Survey from over 3,000 public utility electrical plants, which represents from 90 to 95 per cent of all such plants in the United States. These generating stations include central stations, electric-railway plants, and certain other industrial concerns which produce electricity for public use in addition to that needed for their own requirements. These statistics are compiled for each state and are published monthly in sufficient detail to be used as a basis for many economic studies. The statistics compiled show the number of kilowatt-hours produced monthly by water power as well as the number of kilowatt-hours produced by all fuels. The quantities of fuel of different kinds (coal, fuel oil, and natural gas) consumed monthly in producing electric power by these companies are also given.

The monthly reports give these statistics not only for the current month but for a number of preceding months, so that comparisons may readily be made. They also contain curves showing the average daily production of electricity by these companies both by water power and by fuels.
On May 12, 1921, a 14-page summary report for the year 1920 was issued in mimeograph form giving not only the class of statistics mentioned above but also the detailed percentage produced in each state of the total power produced in the United States and the percentage of each state's total production that was made by water power and by fuels.
Comparative curves of the average daily production of electricity by public-utility plants for the complete years 1919 and 1920 are also shown, as well as a statement calling attention to some of the outstanding facts brought out by the data.

Four Pitchers Carried By Team Coming Saturday

That the Washington Field club, which is to play the Connellsville Independent Saturday at Fayette Field, anticipates a hard contest with the locals can be judged by the fact that it is coming here with an aggregation of ball tossers that would remind one of a leading minor league outfit.

Vorona's team will number 14 players, the fastest bunch of tossers under one independent management of the Pittsburgh district. Manager Manfredi will carry four pitchers. The line-up and batting order of the visitors will probably be as follows: Kinnes, left; Cherdial, right; Zellers, middle; Gen-Ale, captain, right; Burgundy, second; Sheets, third; Schwartz, first; Carlor, catcher; Walters, Kelly, W. Zellers and Scarra, pitchers; Talia and Becker, utility players.

"Tanker" Carter caught last season for the Pittsburgh Collegians and was offered a tryout with the Bristol, Tenn. team. Schwartz is the same fellow who played first with the Blue Ridge league during their exhibition games, but did not go with the team on account of business relations in Pittsburgh. Walters was one of the few pitchers who defeated the Castle Cores of New Castle last season. Kinnes was declared to be one of the best players ever developed in the Pittsburgh high schools. He has played with North Avenue High during the past four years. Captain Gen-Ale was the star forward on the Pittsboro Murdock basketball team during the past season and is rated a very fast outfielder.

That the locals will have their work cut out for them Saturday is a foregone conclusion, as the Washington club looms up as one of the most formidable of the independent's schedule. But local fans believe that Connellsville has an exceptionally strong team.

Barry to Arrange All-Star Bout For Night of Fourth

Duke Barry, considered one of the best matchmakers in this section of the country, has been secured to arrange the big all-star boxing show which will take place on July 4 under the auspices of the Fayette Athletic club at Slavish hall.

The officials of the club decided to engage Barry to arrange the contest on account of his manager's attitude. Barry put on the most successful show during the past winter season. Fans are now assured of seeing some excellent contests on July Fourth night.

The matchmaker will abide by the contract that was forwarded to Eddie Carver, the fast Pittsburger. He is now trying to line up a good opponent for Eddie.

REPORT JUGGLED BEANOS' MANAGER ASSERTS

Manager Whip of the Beanos takes exception to the report of the game played Tuesday evening between his club and Bennie Beal's Poplar Grove, which appeared in these columns the following day. A member of Whip's outfit submits the following information in support of his manager's attitude. With two Grovians eliminated in their half of the ninth, two more perched on second and third respectively, and a 3-3 score threatening extra innings, Port, backstopping for the Beanos, permitted one of Rafferty's 75m's to once through his mitt. With odds of time to recover the ball and prevent any scoring on the loose, Port was frustrated in so doing by an over-enthusiastic Grovian fan who plucked up the ball and tossed it into the diamond. The occupant of third jockeyed home on this bit of outside play and the Poplar Grove umpire immediately increased his popularity in his home grove by permitting the so-called winning tally to stand firm.

Intercepting throws in the path of the base runner is one of the hardest feats a first baseman is called upon to perform, but in this respect Shedy is without an equal for a right-handed first baseman. His long reach and his ability to switch his feet makes him an ideal target and gives the infielders added confidence. They can cut loose with their throws, and rest assured Shedy will stop them if it is within the bounds of possibility.

With a player like Eddie Collins alongside of him, Shedy will not have to cover so much ground, and he can give all of his attention to playing the ball.

Shedy is a good hitter who makes the pitcher feel the ball over before he will offer at it, and he ought to hit well enough to insure himself a permanent berth.

NEW LOW PRODUCTION RECORDS MADE WITH EACH PASSING WEEK

at Less Than 17 Per Cent of Corresponding Week
a Year Ago.

LY 8% OF OVENS ACTIVE

are at Merchant and Independent Furnace Operations Exclusively;
Some Producers Restive Under Long Delays; Others More Restrained.

From The Weekly Courier.

Coke production continues to establish new low records each passing week, with a persistence and regularity which is indisputable proof that the worst has not yet happened, notwithstanding it has several times been believed the greatest depth of depression has already been reached.

The 22,590 tons produced last week exclusively at merchant and independent furnace operations marks a falling off of more than 50 per cent from the week ending March 19, when a downward course began to be rapidly accelerated. The regional total of last week was less than 17 per cent of the corresponding week of last year when the region was operating at about 60 per cent of its rated capacity. This comparison, and the fact that the cumulative rate for the year to date is but 56 per cent of total during the same year of 1920, is one way of showing how nearly the region has approached complete inactivity. Another is found in the statistics of coke. Of the 2,458 furnace ovens only 850, or 34.6 per cent, are active and 2,431, or 18.5 per cent, are in the running but these are operated only in part and on a reduced working schedule.

While the situation as a whole has been somewhat philosophically, and with the realization that the summer will be fiercer than has perhaps been before, some owners in the coke industry are getting over becoming a bit restive for the long idleness. They recognize the futility of attempting to strangle the demand for coke, but in quarters there is the very natural desire to obtain enough business at least permit part operation plants as a means of helping to keep down overhead and to preserve the plant organization in readiness to operate with efficiency when the chance for the better comes. This attitude, and the accumulation of some considerable coke in the region, is doubtless finding reflection in prices which have fallen to $2.25, the minimum prevailing for several weeks past. Small lots of coke are being sold at $2.10 to $2.15 but the price has not been passed except in the case of heating coke which has a down to $2.75.

Among other operators, who are ready operating in part, or those who desire to get busy, is more restrained, there is the disposition to wait until trade conditions become more favorable before they make commitments for the future. Certainly they will not take the risk of accumulating unsold coke merely for the purpose of keeping the wheels going around. They are, therefore, very strongly inclined, in fact have definitely decided, to refrain from taking steps that would further disarrange the situation as viewed from the coke producer's standpoint.

The estimated production of coke during the week ending Saturday, June 11, was 22,590 tons, credited to the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 14,420 tons; a decrease of 1,250 tons; Lower Connellsville, 18,170, a decrease of 990 tons, or a total decrease of 2,240 tons compared with the decrease of 2,500 tons during the preceding week.

By interests in production was: Connellsville, 11,500, a loss of 800 tons; merchant, 21,490, a loss of 1,770 tons, as compared with losses of 2,400 and 220 tons respectively during the week ended June 11.

There was a net gain of 55 in the number of ovens in blast, 80 having been brought into production at Connellsville, 10 added at Herbert and 37 blown out at Washington No. 1.

SUNSHINE AS SOURCE OF FUEL OF FUTURE

Daylight Soon May Be Converted
Into Coal Substitute, Says
Noted Chemist.

Sun energy may be changed some day into a substitute for coal and other fuels, according to Dr. J. Howard Mathews of the University of Wisconsin.

This statement he made recently before the Chicago section of the American Chemical Society in the last of a series of lectures on photo-chemistry delivered before the various sections of the society.

"With constantly diminishing reserves of fuel," said Doctor Mathews, "the question of the utilization of the radiant energy from the sun becomes more and more of a live question. What will the world do when fuel is gone? Such a possibility is, at least geologically speaking, a question of the almost immediate future. Hundreds of millions of tons of energy are being continuously from the sun. How can this energy be stored up and transformed into a useful form of force? The optimistic photo-chemist believes that it can be employed to bring about certain chemical reactions, which, by their reversal, will again liberate it, preferably in the form of electricity. The dream is no more chimerical than was that vision of a hundred years ago, in which electricity was conceived as stored and utilized."

Doctor Mathews remarked that the sun was a practical photo-chemist, and the energy of rays the greatest of all photo-chemical reactions. With the aid of that mysterious substance, chlorophyll, which imparts the green color to the leaves, the agriculturist calls on the sun to combine water and carbonic acid gas to form the starches and sugars of plants. Chlorophyll unites various elements which make up vegetation and is therefore a catalyst, that is, a substance which promotes or retards chemical reaction between other materials without being itself affected.

"Nature," continued Doctor Mathews, "does not always work in the most efficient manner, and man has improved on natural processes, as he has redirected them to better serve his end. What a boon to mankind it would be if the photo-chemist could discover some catalyst which would enable the reaction of water and carbon dioxide to form a carbohydrate—the reaction to be carried out in the laboratory and the manufacturing plant."

Doctor Mathews concluded that the task of the photo-chemist is to study all possible types of reactions produced by all kinds of radiation. By that means they may gain more thorough knowledge of the laws and principles involved, with a view of making in the future many important and practical applications.

ORIGIN OF POPULAR SAYINGS

Many That Have in Time Become Household Words Can Be Traced to Firm Users.

"A red-letter day" is an expression which arose out of the old ecclesiastical calendar, in which festivals and high holidays were printed in red ink. These important days consequently became known as "Red-Letter Days," hence the term today. "Murder will out" is a phrase which Geoffrey Chaucer originated, although in the first instance it was said "Mordre wol out." "Truth is stranger than fiction" is a well-used saying, and perhaps it is not generally known that it was originally employed by Byron in his "Don Juan." "Escaped with the skin of his teeth," it is interesting to observe, originates in the Bible—Job, chapter 19, verse 20. "Field" originally meant land on which trees had been "felled" or "felled." "Necessity is the mother of invention" is well over two and a half centuries old. These well-known words were first found in French's "Northern Memoirs," written in 1658. "Eaten her out of house and home," a phrase, in view of the present price of food, undoubtedly repeated by worried housewives, is originated by Shakespeare in his "Henry IV." "Anything for a quiet life" is an expression which arose from a play by Middleton, bearing that title. "Turn over a new leaf," by the way, was first used in the same play.

WRAP IN FAVOR AS PARIS MODE

Conspicuous Variety of Coats

ators of Fashions.

HUMPED-BACK CAPE NOVELTY

Garment Said to Be Designed After the Hindustani or Persian Priest's Robe—Has Peculiar Neck Effect

From the standpoint of variety the coats of this season are a great success. They are a fashion which wraps are no longer important than we expected them to be. For several months there has been considerable talk about the tailored suit and about its success, becoming the backbone of the American woman's wardrobe.

This movement has the honor of
of being the first in a series of great houses there have been suits of a prominent place in their collections.
The early death of this style of fashion may be laid to the door of the smartly dressed woman who had thoroughly learned the advantages of a one-piece frock and coat. To date coat over a skirt of material and blouse or an outfit which broke the lines of the figure at the waist and was anything but beautiful. Even the overblouse gave the impression that it was of contrasting material and it not a contrasting color to the skirt and coat.

The leading American designers houses report at this time no demand for the tailored suit.

Although it is of styles may bring out of them new things they are too eager to give them upon the public. There is a vast difference between a new style of dress and makers of fashions. The latter believe the effect of the models that are brought out which women may wear the model and the latter the woman who wears the clothes with a grace and charm that every other woman wants to be like.

Humped Back Cape. Bizarre. Novelty.
To date it is a masterpiece of be successful in a practical sense of view, must make the woman want whether it is a new fashion or an old one. Consequently they have given unintentional attention to it. There is an artistic beauty of models as well as practicality. The humped cape de Chine robe and cape are with those of soft satin and striking new designs.

silks. These are seen on a coat illustrated in a recent issue of this paper. It is a model which has a new humped back cape and has been designed after the Hindustani or Persian Priest's robe. This cape is the sensational novelty of the collection. It is developed in black and gold with wide flounces of black velvet tasseled with black and gold to form a sort of collar. It is much similar to the new "humped back" cape.
The flounces are bordered by narrow flounces of the same material. The lacing is in black and gold. The flower motifs in the pattern developed in a pattern which is painted in white. The cape is faded to show the black and gold elements are in black and gold. The appliance is in black and gold. The appliance is in black and gold.

The peculiar neck effect in this wrap, which is a distinctly new fashion, is obtained by a double support of flaps which hold it to the back. It is in a way separates the collar but continues with the drape of the coat. Miss Maudslowi who designed the coat, claims that it is suitable for all types of figures, and will give a more slender line to the stout woman than the ordinary collar. Through its wide support the material forming the wrap flares

Blue Serge Wrap Transparent Effect.
It is not only in the dress wraps
that one finds the effect of Madeleine et Madeleine, but also in more practical styles for day wear. The model known as Toot Toot is an interesting example of the use of the humped back cape. It is a model which is a new fashion. It is equally well adapted for the more simple form of wrap.

Another important and interesting model is a cape with this interesting feature. It is a model

Miss Jones of Modelling also makes

This particular style of wrap, in

Now is the Time to Make Up Your Mind The Frederick Thrift Club

is about to close its roster

THRIFTERS, attention: The bugle calls for the last rally. Bring in your dollar now and enroll before it is too late. The roster will positively close in a few days.

Don't be like the youngster who was accidentally imprisoned in the pantry. This poor kid actually starved to death because he was afraid to help himself.

This Thrift Club is for self-helpers—for self-poised, self-opinioned, self-sufficient folks. No need to starve for good music—here's a whole 'pantry full' of good pianos. Help yourself.

Let Us Repeat—But a Few Days Remain

Quick selection and prompt buying has been the rule here because every thrice-seeing prudent-minded visitor has been quick to see the advantages.

First of all—the remarkable beauty and merit of the pianos themselves —popular models most attractive in design and finish.

Then—the great saving in price—really important and substantial reductions on standard instruments. Savings counted in three figures.
Then—the small down payment—merely enough to bind the sale—and not half enough to give anybody the least pang of regret.

Then—the low weekly payment plan extended over a period of three years if you like.

Then—the free exchange privilege—you can exchange the instrument any time within 6 months.

Then—the two insurance clauses—you are positively indemnified against any possible loss in case of death or fire. Good features.
Then—the ten-year guarantee—a cast-iron, copper-riveted warranty of material and construction—written in plain language—no "if" nor "buts."

Then—the free stool given with each piano—and the free bench with each player-piano or baby grand. Made to match of course. W don't believe anybody can ask further inducements.

May be somebody sometime will contrive a more liberal and practical plan for the purchase of pianos—but it hasn't been done—as yet!
Bring your best taste and your best buying judgment here tomorrow—
